$500 Gift Made Toward Replacement of Alexander Cottage

CONTRIBUTION MADE BY ESTATE OF THE LATE MRS. PEARLE T. HOWARD

Item in Mrs. Howard's Will Specified $500.00 for Some Worthy Cause

EXECUTORS DECIDED

Other Small Sums Have Been Donated for Same Purpose

A $500.00 contribution was made the latter part of July toward the replacement of Alexander Cottage with four smaller units, this gift having come to the Presbyterian Orphans' Home from the estate of the late Mrs. Pearle Howard, of Concord. In her will Mrs. Howard set aside the sum of $500.00 for some worthy purpose, the disposition of which was to be left to the discretion of her executors, who were her husband, Alex. R. Howard, and her son, A. Jones Yorke.

These two friends of the Home decided that they would like to use that $500.00 in one of the proposed four units, for the use of this sum would, in this way, be a perpetual memorial in honor of Mrs. Howard. During her lifetime Mrs. Howard was interested in Barium Springs and these close relatives felt that they made a decision that would have met with her hearty approval.

This $500.00 is the largest donation that has yet been received at Barium for the Alexander units. Several smaller sums were received during the 1938-1939 fiscal year, these aggregating $35.00. Officials here now have $535.00 toward the first of the buildings, which will eventually entail an outay of approximately $40,000.00, according to rough estimates.

In the early part of September an architect will place in the hands of the superintendent, Mr. Joseph B. Johnston, tentative sketches of the proposed quadrangle. Long, long ago a site was selected for these buildings, for it has been the hope of Mr. Johnston and the Regents to replace Alexander building with quarters that are more habitable.

The dairy boys once occupied a cottage known as the Round Knob. This was destroyed by fire in 1920. According to Regents of the Home at the time of the fire, the youngsters were placed in Alexander Building - which was being used for industrial purposes - as a temporary measure. However, the Above is a picture of the one and only building at Barium Springs in the fall of 1891 when the Home was established here. with a total enrollment of 12 children. This building burnud to the ground in November of 1891, and the children werq housed temporarily in a Statesville residence until Annie Louise Cottage was built in 1892 by the late George Watts, of Durham. Synod's Cottage was also started in 1892 before Annie Louise was finished, the Synod having accepted Mr. Watts' challenge to build a cottage if Synod would give enough for another one. From this one structure and the 25 acres that went with it, Barium Springs has grown to more than 40 buildings, over 300 children and approximately 1150 acres. Watch next month's Messenger for a layout of the Barium campus as it exists today.

Mrs. Eola McGirt Died Suddenly

Death Occurred On July 30th.- Had Returned to Resume Matron's Work

The people at Barium Springs and hundreds of other friends throughout North Carolina were shocked by the sudden death of Mrs. Eola McGirt on Sunday, July 30th. Mrs. McGirt was stricken while resting at the Woman's Building here, and died from the cerebral hemorrhage enroute to a Statesville hospital. Her death occurred about 4:30 o'clock.

"Mama" McGirt, as she was known to more than a hundred boys and girls under her at the Baby Cottage at Barium Springs for seven years of matron's work, had returned to Barium Springs on the Saturday before her death in preparation to assume the supervision of another cottage as matron. She had been given a year's leave of absence because of ill-health and was apparently in the best of condition when she was

DOUGHERTY - SOSSAMON

Two Members of Barium High School Faculty Were Married on August 18th

Mrs. Ora Hughes Dougherty requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of her daughter
Ora Lee
to
Mr. Leroy Sossamon
on Friday, August the eighteenth nineteen hundred and thirty-nine at high noon
Bryson City Methodist Church
Bryson City, North Carolina.

The above announcement is of particularly great interest to everybody at Barium Springs, for both of the parties involved in these nuptials are members of the high school faculty at this Home. Miss Dougherty came to the high school faculty here last year as the Domestic Science teacher, having graduated the previous year at the Queens-Chicora College. Mr. Sossamon has been English teacher at Barium Springs for the past four years and is director of the library here. He is a graduate of Appalachian Teachers College at Boone.

After the marriage and honeymoon, they will be at home at Barium Springs, where both of them will resume their duties as teachers on August 31st, when school formally opens here.

Orphanage Work Secretary Says

(Mrs. C. I. Loftin, Gastonia, Guest Writer).

Dear Friends and Coworkers of Barium:

As we look forward to fall and winter, a word to our auxiliary members as they are preparing for their own families - canning, making jelly, etc. - about keeping the Orphan's Home in mind is appropriate.

I had such a lovely day not long ago meeting with a small auxiliary for an all day quilting.

Two quilts had been pieced in the auxiliary and made ready for quilting. The ladies gathered together at this home where there were large oak trees and the quilts

Football Schedule For 1939 Is Listed

Only A Few Veterans Are Available for the Varsity Team This Fall

Before the next issue of The Messenger is delivered to friends throughout North Carolina, the 1939 football season will be under way. It is, therefore, fitting that the August copy of the paper should carry the 1939 varsity schedule and that a review of the possibilities should be recounted in this issue.

A condensation of the schedule appears in a box in this article for the convenience of friends who want to clip it out and have it handy to see when the opportunity will afford itself to see the Golden Tornado in action, either at Barium Srings or on some foreign gridiron. The schedule shows four home engagements with Morganton, Salisbury, Lexington and Gastonia, plus a one-day carnival when three games will be played on Sloan Field here between junior elevens. Of the six games elsewhere, five of them are to be nocturnal encounters, the game with Albemarle being the only one schedule for daylight performance.

As is usually the case at the outset of a football season, prospects seem rather dim at Barium Springs

APPROACHING SCHOOL SESSION WILL START HERE ON AUGUST 31ST

Some of the Teachers Are Already Here and Are Ready for the Opening

ONE FACULTY CHANGE

W. A. Diehl Replaces George Neel As Science Teacher

By the time this Messenger is delivered to friends, teachers in the schools at Barium Springs will be packing their belongings in preparation to return to the campus and take up their duties on August 31st, when the 1939-1940 scholastic session will start.

R. G. Calhoun, principal of the schools, has already returned to Barium Springs from his home near Laurinburg; Harry Barkley, grammar school principal and teacher of the seventh grade, has been at Camp Fellowship all summer, and Misses Mary Faye Stevenson, Sadie Brandon and Irene McDade have been on the campus at various times this summer, working either as substitute matrons or assisting at Camp Fellowship.

Only one change occurs in the faculty for 1939-1940, and this is in the high school. W. A. Diehl of Winston-Salem, a 1939 graduate of Davidson College, will replace George Neel as science teacher. Mr. Diehl was proficient in the sciences at Davidson and was also greatly interested in the music department. He will probably be used here in some musical capacity, in addition to his teaching.

There is one other change, too, but it is in name only. On August 18th, the Domestic Science teacher, Miss Ora Lee Dougherty, became Mrs. Leroy Sossamon. Mr. Sossamon is English teacher here, and both will continue as members of the high school faculty.

The personnel for the 1939-1940 school year will therefore be Miss Theoria Straughn, East Spencer, first grade; Miss Sadie Brandon, Yadkinville, second grade; Miss Elizabeth McKethan, Fayetteville, third; Miss Margaret Bell, Decatur, Ga., fourth; Miss Gladys Burroughs, Ila, Ga., fifth; Miss Mary Faye Stevenson, Stony Point, sixth; Harry Barkley, Barium Springs, seventh and grammar school principal.

In the high school with Mr. Calhoun will be Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Sossamon, of Midland; Miss Irene McDade, Lenoir; Miss Reba Thompson, Danielsville, Ga., and W. A. Diehl, of Winston-Salem, the newcomer. Miss Laura Gray Greene, of Roaring River, returns at the same time to resume her music teaching.

Alumni News

Death of Milton Crocker

The old-timers of Barium Springs will greatly regret to learn of the death of James Milton Crocker, who died at his home at Cherryville the latter part of July at the age of 52 years.

The late Mr. Crocker was born on February 8, 1887 and entered Barium Springs five years after the Home was established here. The date of his acceptance was September 16, 1896. He remained here until April of 1899. For almost 20 years after his graduation Mr. Crocker was out west but later returned to settle down in North Carolina and at Cherryville. Among the survivors is his wife and son, James Milton, Jr., and a brother and sister, who are also alumni of this Home.

During recent years, Mr. Crocker had been a visitor to Barium

(FORM OF BEQUEST)

"I give and bequeath to the REGENTS OF THE ORPHANS' HOME OF THE PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD OF NORTH CAROLINA, Incorporated Under the laws of the state of North Carolina, (HERE NAME THE BEQUEST.)

INTAKE EVALUATION

From The Home Chronicle.

These are the days of investigation as to who shall come and live at the Children's Home in place of those who have gone away. The applicants are plentiful. The insistence is abounding. Who shall be admitted? What will we do for those who cannot be admitted?

There are some general guiding principles which tend to help in determining who can be admitted into the Children's Home. There are a sufficient number of orphanages in North Carolina for us to limit our intake to those who have a claim on any church or fraternal child caring institution. We try to do something for each applicant who has a bona fide claim on us. We also try to take our share of responsibility for serving children who can only present humanity's claim to us.

Inside these fields of intake there are still some processes of elimination. It is not our habit to take children away from a good mother. We think that no child should come to an orphanage on purely economic grounds. If there is a good mother who cannot receive aid for dependent children we think it is better to provide her a mothers' aid contribution.

We turn away a large number of applicants whose friends insist on their being accepted for the stated reason that the children live in a poor environment and will receive better training with us. So long as there is someone at home to assume this responsibility we think it should be assumed by the family and the community. Some relatives insist on having given children accepted in order to escape responsibility which would otherwise fall on them. Such children are not often admitted. We are still working on the principle that an orphanage is a place of last resort.

Yet with all the eliminations before stated and others which could be stated there are yet more applicants of a bona fide nature than we can accommodate. While it ought to be admitted that the Social Security Program has lessened the insistence of a given class of applicants, it has by no means lessened the total number of requests presented. This program has made it easier for us to secure the help of one kind or another for all deserving applicants. We have found the state and county welfare authorities very co-operative in the handling of cases coming within our review.

Fewer children from living mothers are being accepted. An increased number of children with living fathers are being accepted. The greatest increase of acceptances, on a comparative basis, is from broken homes and deserted homes. This presents an alarming situation. It is very evident that many people do not have the sense of responsibility for children that they once had. It is becoming easier for trifling parents to run away form their children and leave them on the mercies of benevolent organizations and civic enterprises. We take our share of children born out of wedlock, basing our decision on the fact that they are not responsible for the way they came into existence.

So now we are in the midst of trying to determine how far we can go in an attempt to do the right thing for the right child. We do not limit our intake to beautiful children or to the most precocious children. Our responsibility goes far beyond these. Any child with a good claim on our people and with a fair chance at developing a good life comes within the range of our responsibility. We do not subscribe to the boast that is sometimes made, "Our children are hand picked." A cross section of the children now with us will reveal that they compare favorably with a cross section of children in any public school of the usual community. We think our first responsibility is to the children. Our next is to our constituency. What is the fair thing to do? Well, we are working at it continually with open minds and prayerful thoughts.

JUST ANYBODY WON'T DO

From The Connie Maxwell.

One of the great and important changes that has come over institution work in recent years relates to the tone and character of personnel of the staff. At one time we had the idea that almost any good person could take care of children and do for them all that was called for. As the years have come and gone there has been a steady raising of standards in the type of men and women employed at the orphanages of our State and of our land. It seems curious that we should ever have thought that any good person could really do any job. We did have that idea at one time but experience has been teaching us that there are many important jobs that a merely good person cannot do.

There has come emphasis on special preparation for important jobs. Many a person can remember the day when an old soldier, especially if he had one arm or one leg, could get almost any county office that he asked for. The gratitude of the people would respond if he asked for any favors at an election. And was not he a good, true man? Hadn't he been patriotic? Hadn't he suffered? Hadn't he bled for his country? Although these questions might all be answered in the affirmative, it was still not a safe proposition that he was a competent man to handle funds or to direct the activities of an important office. It was a weak philosophy and we were weak ourselves ever to accept it. Even since the soft stuff about the old soldier has about played out we still have an idea that in public office almost any good man can administer its duties. There is not a word of truth in this. No vote should ever be cast for a man because he needs an office or because he has been patriotic and self-sacrificing. It is a great injustic to the tax payers to be imposed upon in any such way. If taxes are necessary to pay the salary of any officer, the payment ought to be made to an able, competent person. Full value for payment of salary can only be had in this way. What a sin to waste taxes in paying for incompetent officers just because they are popular, or because, they are patriotic, or because they are good back-slappers. It just does not make sense, that is all.

This kind of talk is not the kind that is heard among politicians, but is the only kind in which there is any sense, and we reach the depths of silliness when we are unwilling to employ a person who does not live in our town, or in our county, or in our State. We have numbers of experiences of seeing incompetent people in office merely because they were local. Such a person may not be worth his salary by half, but he has been given the office as a reward or as a compliment. It is sin to pay our money raised from taxation as a compliment. The most suitable and best prepared person should be brought in to do our work for us even though he is not a local person.

We are coming along in institution work when we reach the principal that a man or woman to be employed must be the most competent that can be found. Good results can only be had when able people are placed in positions of responsibility, and in children's work we are actually reaching the point at which we appreciate technical training and we actually defend it on the ground that it saves money. A competent person does save money because better results are secured. A trained person knows what to do, and a good sort of an individual, pleasant and popular, may not have had a bit of training and may not have the ability to get results. In fact, cannot get results if he does not know at all what he is about.

Skillful people cost more money, but we get so much out of them that they are profitable. They can bring success, and a poorly prepared, ill trained person cannot get success at all. We are coming on a better day in this present period because every now and then it is observed that an institution is taking fresh hold on things by moving forward to secure better educated nad better trained workers. For that reason our respect for the institution is increasing. We are leaving the crude philosophy that any merely good person can fill any job that presents itself.

ORPHANAGE—HOME

From Charity and Children.

Some of the places where orphan children are gathered are called Orhanages while others are called "Home." The names are different but the work is the same, the ideas and ideals are the same. The word Orphanage is used because it is an Orphanage and the word "Home" is used as an ideal toward which those in charge are striving.

The Baptists of North Carolina do not claim to be doing a superior work in child welfare than other groups but they do use both words. They call their organization the Baptist Orphanage of North Carolina. The confession, if it should be so-called, is that they do maintain an Orphanage. An institution that cares for orphan children is an orphanage regardless of what it is named and an orphan is a child that has been deprived of parental care by death or by any other cause. But while Baptists maintain an orphanage they strive to give the children the advantage of a normal home life and call the places where the children are congregated homes. "The Mills Home" and the "Kennedy Home."

These names stand for ideals rather than actualities. They mean that Baptists are trying to do for the children something more than is thought of in connection with the word "Orphanage." That word has a purely institutional sound with children all dressed alike, all fed the same kind of food, all marching in line, with a mould into which each one is pressed. It sounds as if the children are trained rather than guided; trained according to a pattern conceived in the mind of an autocrat rather than guided by an understanding and intelligent friend. It sounds as if there was a mass of children exactly alike rather than a group of children, each with his own individuality and latent talents. We have gotten completely away from that idea even while retaining the word.

The word "Home" is used as the ideal. It is not altogether appropriate. It does not carry just what those in charge are striving for. Mills Home and Kennedy Home are in reality children villages and the villages are made up of a number of houses. Those cottages rather than the villages are the nearest approach to homes. It is those in charge of the cottages who are the nearest approach to the parents who have been lost to the children. The cottage is "the hallowed spot where dropped stitches of vanished hands are being woven again in the loom of love." The elect lady in charge is sometimes called "mother," at others "matron." She is called matron for that is what she really is. The cottage is not a home; it is only an approach. The matron is not the mother; she does for the children to the extent of her limited ability what a real mother would do. She is not the mother of the children; each child has a mother, living or dead, and no one is foolish enough or presumptious enough even to try to usurp that holy place. She is sometimes called "mother" because she tries so hard to do a mother's part by the children. Even when she is called "mother" the term is qualified and she is called "cottage mother." All of which means that those in charge of groups of children who have been committed to the feel that they are furnishing an atmosphere and a soil in which the children may grow up into manhood and womanhood with their powers of choice developed and their characters strong.

We have never heard a superintendent of an orphanage home or any member of a staff say that children reared in an institution had a better chance in life than children reared in many homes but we are going to say it for them in case of at least two types of homes. One is the home in which the parents are dictators who do all of the deciding for the children to the least non-essential details of their lives. A dictator in a home is as bad as a dictator in a nation. Institutional children do have a better chance in life than children reared by a dictator however seemingly pious the dictator may be.

The other type of home is one in which parents let their children grow up like weeds in a neglected garden to run like wild vines. Institution reared children do have a better chance in life than children reared with a house as only convenient headquarters. Parents of that type may try to fool themselves with high sounding words like "self expression" but it is a lazy refusal to do work that calls for thought, patience, love and firmness.

And finally and at length, an institution for the care of orphan children is too big and too complex for any one term, be that Orphanage or Home and the people who are in charge of these institutions know it best.

News From Some Of The Cottages

ANNIE LOUISE

Hello Friends,

Here it is almost time for school to open, and most of us are very glad.

Our matron, Mrs. Holton, fell and broke her ankle, and while she is away we are glad to have Miss Faye Stevenson stay with us. We all like her.

Lots of our girls have gone home and most of them are back with us. We know they had a good time.

We are very glad to have Mary, Grace, Pearl and Helen Morgan, Frances Adams and Ida Lee McBride to come and live with us. We all hope they like us.

Patricia and Betty Lou Hooten and Martha Price had a visit from their home folks recently.

We were invited to see "The Kid From Komoko" at the Playhouse. We enjoyed it very much.

We have been having lots of apples, peaches and grapes and we got our first watermelons Tuesday.

We will say goodbye until next month.

—Annie Louise Girls.

August 1, 1939.

JENNIE GILMER

Howdy folks,

This is old J. G., who's news you hear about once a year.

Peaches are ripe and are very good and so are the grapes they bring around.

Most of the boys are back from their vacations and are now making their residence here for another year. Just about everyone has gone except Clarence Robards, who, by the way, spent the weekend with Ed Cole and their clothing people in Kannapolis. Clarence will go August 5th and Jimmie Stafford is away right at this time.

A number of the boys returned this week and we are glad to get them back.

We would like to thank Mr. Sams for inviting us to see a free picture.

That's about all but we'll be back next year.

Your ace reporter,

—Billy Lindsay

FARM SCOOPS

Summer fever has got us down but we go on: planting, plowing, threshing, hoeing, cutting hay and wood's trouble. All are almost gone from us, but the wood's past by before us yet.

Ike White (a farm employee) returned from his vacation this week and we know he had a good time. Mr. Linville (our boss) returned from his about a month ago and we think he is planning another rest.

Jack Weeks is a new hand fresh from the truck farm and a very good hand.

We have been hauling top soil on the campus roads so that they will be better to drive on.

We are now fixing up the football field.

So long until next time.

Your ace reporter.

—Billy Lindsay

RUMPLE HALL

Hello Folks,

We were all much grieved to hear of the death of Mrs. McGirt, one of our beloved matrons. Most of our girls spent their first years at Barium with Mrs. McGirt at the Baby Cottage and learned to love her there.

Our paster. Mr. Cook, and his family are away on their vacation now and in his absence we enjoyed listening to Rev. John Carriker, one of our old Barium boys, last Sunday.

Several of our workers are away on vacations. They are Miss Adams, our head matron, who is with her sister; Miss Andrews, Miss McDade, and Miss Eudy are spending three weeks in Florida at Daytona Beach; Miss Long is spending her vacation at her home near Davidson and Mrs. Purdy spent the week-end with her son in Charlotte.

Three of our girls are away also. They are Billie Ammons, Beulah Baldwin and Mable Vinson.

Miss Taylor and Miss Reid are in summer school at Duke University.

Grace Adams came from Durham to live with us. We are more than glad to have her. She has a little sister and brother here also.

We have enjoyed our fruit this summer. We have had peaches, grapes and apples and plenty of cantaloupes.

Ice cream has tasted good during this hot weather.

Our bathrooms on second floor are being renovated. We are staying on the third floor where our teachers stay in the winter time. We will be glad to have our bathrooms fixed up new.

Yesterday we were invited to the Playhouse Theatre to see the "Wolf Call." Thank you, Mr. Sams.

Yesterday we had almost forty ladies from Shelby to visit us. We appreciate the interest they show in Barium.

A few of our girls have been working in the kitchen. This is a new type of work for them for we are the dishwashers.

Next week some more of us will go to camp. The following week is the final camp for this year. The ones that have not had a vacation get to go.

We will be looking forward to our visit with you next month.

—Mary Nell Pearson.

August 8, 1939.

HOWARD COTTAGE

Hello Folks,

School will start August 31st and we will be glad when it does.

We have been having lots of grapes, peaches and some watermelons.

Twelve of our girls will go to Rumple Hall this summer.

We are having lots of beans to string now.

Most of our girls are back from their vacations and all said they had a grand time. Crosby Mundy will be back August 5th, and Jackie Newnam and Betty Williamson will be back later in the month. Hannah Price is going on her vacation on Angust 3rd.

—The Bean Stringers

LEE'S COTTAGE

Hello Folks!

This is Lee's Cottage back again with its news. It seems to us the summer has wings the way it passes by so quickly.

Miss Turner, our matron, has returned from her vacation. She brought back some cactus plants to add to our collection. We have quite a variety of them now.

Charles Smith's guinea pigs have just had little ones. A brown

S. S. Meals

That marvelous increase of $264.12 in the giving of Sunday Schools to Barium Springs in the first quarter of 1939-1940 was almost wiped out in July, for the July reports from Sunday Schools showed $208.77 less than in July of 1938. Yet, despite that big difference in the receipts from Sunday Schools in the two comparative years, the Sunday Schools continue to remain slightly ahead of last year's giving - to the tune of $55.35. Not much of a lead, to be sure, but they are still ahead.

The August, 1938, receipts were next to the lowest of any month of last year from Sunday Schools, but maybe it will be a different story in August of 1939. If it is, the Sunday Schools will go into a substantial lead again over the reports received at the Home through August 31, 1938.

At ten cents per meal, the following number of meals could have been served in the past two and one-third years:

temporary sojourn has been extended over a period of 19 years. Original plans in the building program of the 1920's was to eliminate the use of Alexander as a dormitory, but the depression came along before this could be done. In recent years intensive efforts have been made to rid the Home of a cumbersome indebtedness, and now efforts are being bent toward the realization of a hope that has long been harbored in the hearts of those in authority at Barium.

The legacy of $500.00 from Mrs. Pearle Howard's estate was a splendid one, and it is believed here that this action on the part of the executors in reaching their decision will be of inspirational value to others now living to make contributions that will eventually make possible these units.

We are enjoying the grapes and peaches that have been brought to us by the orchard boys. The truck farm has sent in quite a supply of cantaloupes which we also enjoy.

Right now we are at the height of the vacation season. Many of our boys are on their vacations and there are quite a few who have just returned.

Mr. Jackins is on his vacation and we hope he is having a good time and will be back with us soon.

It won't be long until school is under way and many of us will be looking forward to it.

So long. You'll hear from us next month.

BABY COTTAGE

Flash!

This is the Baby Cottage bringing you the news of the month.

Since we wrote you last we have had a little new girl to come to live with us. Her name is Betty Jean McBride. She likes to stay here very well.

We want to thank Mr. Sams for inviting us to see "The Kid From Kokomo."

We are enjoying the peaches, apples and grapes that Mr. Thomas and his boys are bringing to us. We also enjoyed the watermelons that "Daddy" O'Kelly gave us.

"Mama" O'Kelly, Miss Woods, Miss Lackey, Helen Price, Mrs. Milton and Mr. Johnston went to Mama McGirt's funeral. It was held at Maxton.

Mrs. Southerland spent last week-end in Davidson with her daughter, Mrs. A. H. Whittle. We were glad to have Mrs. Marshall for our matron downstairs while Mrs. Southerland was away.

Lilly Bryant and May Lynn Jones are going to camp on August 14th. We know they will have a good time.

Jackie Williams came back from his vacation Monday and we are expecting Louise Martin back on Monday. Frances Strickland and Lilly Bryant came back from their vacation last week.

We are very glad to have Janie Smith for one of our big girls. She replaces Gertie Smith who is going to the Woman's Building to live.

Jackie Porterfield has been sick at the Infirmary and we are glad she is well and back home again.

So long until next month.

INFIRMARY

Dear Readers,

Well, vacation is nearly over and school will soon start. It seems as though school has just closed and now it is nearly time to go back.

Nancy Stafford and Sadie Mills are away on their vacations and Geraldine Blue and Lillie McDonald have just returned and reported a grand time. Nancy and Lillie are going to move to the Woman's Building. Louise Brock has moved to the Infirmary. Gertie Smith has been helping down here until she leaves on her vacation. Mrs. McNatt, our nurse, has been on her vacation in New York. She will return the latter part of this week. We were glad to have Mrs. Barkley while she is away.

Miss Lackey went with Mr. Johnston and others to Maxton to the funeral of Mrs. McGirt.

We were invited to the Playhouse to see "Kid From Kokomo." It was a good picture. Thank you, Mr. Sams.

Mrs. Holton, who had a fall and is now at the Infirmary, is recovering nicely.

We have had several boys coming down here with nails stuck in their feet. However, none of these have been serious.

We are having lots of apples, peaches and grapes. We are enjoying them all.

So long until next month.

—Geraldine Blue

MRS. EOLA McGIRT

called back.

She had attended church that morning, had repeatedly voiced her happiness over having returned to Barium Springs, she had dinner with one of the Barium families that day and had retired to the Woman's Building for a rest. She was reading The Christian Observer for a little while before dropping off to sleep.

Authorities and workers at Barium Springs were looking forward to having her as a member of the official family again and a very cordial reception had been given her upon her arrival in mid-afternoon on Saturday. She was the center of attention at church that day because she had come back to a work in which she was deeply interested and for which she was aptly fitted. It was difficult to believe late that afternoon that God had issued a final summons to her.

Mrs. McGirt is survived by two sons, John McGirt, of Red Springs, and Murphy McGirt, of Maxton; our brothers and two sisters, and among the survivors, too, are many children who loved her deeply and who had benefited from her ministrations.

Rev. James Appleby, of Anderson, S. C. who was her pastor for the year she spent with her son in Maxton, conducted the funeral at Centre Church, near Maxton, on Tuesday, August 1st. Attending the final rites from Barium Springs were Jos. B. Johnston, superintendent; Mrs. T. L. O'Kelley, Miss Verna Woods, Miss Beaty Lackey, Mrs. Ernest Milton and Helen Price, a 1939 graduate who had served at the Baby Cottage under Mrs. McGirt.

Springs and was deeply grateful to the Home for the almost three years that he spent here as a resident.

Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin K. Kyles announce the birth of a daughter, Nancy Lee, on August 20. Mrs. Kyles is the former Rachel Moore. She is Secretary of the Barium Springs Alumni Association, and Mr. Kyles is head of the Shoe Shop and Printing Departments at Barium Springs.

Rev. John A. Carriker, now preaching at Marion, Ohio, was twice a visitor to Barium Springs recently. On the first occasion, August 11th, he came back to meet some of his old friends here for a picnic. Five former Barium residents, with their wives or husbands and children, met together and the crowd numbered around 25. In addition to Mr. Carriker, former members of the Barium family present were Mr. and Mrs. James Gray, Will Warlick, and Mrs. J. H. Gentry, all of Statesville. This affair was arranged on the spur of the moment, but plans are on foot to have a bigger crowd and get-together sometime next August.

Rev. S. E. Howie, D. D., pastor of the Westminster Church in Memphis, Tenn. was also an August visitor to Barium Springs, spending a short time at his old home here. It had been a long, long time since Dr. Howie had been on the campus.

Hazel Miller, 1938 graduate who now lives in Brooklyn, N. Y. was a visitor at Barium around the middle of August. Except for a slight tinge of northern brogue she is still the same Hazel. She was mighty glad to be back home for a brief visit.

There have also been a good many other alumni visitors who live nearby and who come to Barium Springs frequently. If their names were mentioned each time, maybe they would have to be duplicated some months because of the frequency of their returns.

because of a large number of A-1 performers who graduated in the spring. On top of those leaving is always the knowledge that there are only about 65 boys in the high school, from the eighth grade through the eleventh. However, qualms over the outlook are quickly subjugated as the younger boys come forward to fill the empty shoes in commendable fashion and enable Barium Springs to have a good season, with victories generally in the majority of the mixups.

Missing from Barium's linup this fall will be Arthur Sigmon, Lee Spencer and Dalma Jessup, ends; Bobby Bosworth and Paul McKenzie, guards; Worth Bolton and Mac Sherry Lackey, tackles; Miller Blue, fullback and J. D. Beshears, halfback. That is nine of the 16 men receiving letters last year, leaving but seven veterans to carry on in the 1939 season.

These seven men are William Smith, end; John Cole McCrimmon, tackle; John Ellis, center; Arthur Roach, quarterback; Rex Lewis and Ed Cole, halfbacks, and Howard Beshears, fullback.

A quartet of backfield men are among those available. This will enable Barium to put a first-string eleven on the field that is made up of a veteran backfield, but it's an entirely different story with the line. Both guards graduated,

Income Distribution

Giving on the part of Church budgets forged to the forefront in the July receipts, for the first quarter ended on June 30th, and a good many churches made reports for the first time in the year of 1938-1939. The record now shows that 33.1% of the regular receipts from Synod in the first four months came from Church appropriations, but the Sunday Schools continue to maintain a substantial lead by having sent 49.9% (almost 50%) of the total from Synod in April, May, June and July. The other 17% of the income was received from the Auxiliaries.

The $9,662.48 that regularly came in in the past four months is divided between these three main sources as follows: Sunday Schools $4,824.84; Church budgets, $3,200.66 and Auxiliaries, $1,636.98.

Within the Presbyteries the following is the breakdown of the total welcomed here:

Presbytery	Ch.	S. S.	Aux.
Albe.	$100.14	$298.24	$254.04
Con.	574.96	875.20	148.65

Camp Fellowship

Children's Home
Winston-Salem, N. C.
August 14, 1939

Dear Mr. Johnston,

This letter comes to you in appreciation for our two weeks at camp. We thoroughly enjoyed ourselves and wish to express our thanks. Some will write their thanks, others may tell you themselves, but others may keep their thanks silent, but I send my thanks to you with a letter.

I write for the girls in my cottage. This is the Julia Higgins Cottage, and we have freshmen and sophomores. Each and every one of the girls want you to know they appreciate your camp.

We hope we left your camp in fine condition for we tried to clean up all of our things.

We hope you and every one of your children are well and happy. We send you and them our best regards.

Yours sincerely,
Hilda Gibson.

From Charity and Children.

The boys from three cottages or about one hundred in number left early Monday morning for "Camp Fellowship" on the Catawba river. They will remain for three days and another group will go. Next week the girls will go in three-day relays. They are there on account of the kindness of Mr. Joseph B. Johnston and the Barium Springs Orphanage. The camp belongs to Barium Springs but they give Mills Home the use of it each summer for two weeks. It is a well equipped camp in a beautiful grove on the river bank. We are under great obligations to our sister institution. All of the Mills Home children will have a three-day camp trip except the little ones who will be given one-day picnics nearer home.

July's Receipts Were Very Encouraging

Presbytery	July Receipts	Am't. Received Per Mem.	Total Per Mem. for Year
Winston-Salem	$ 319.83	6.3c	21.4c
Albemarle	160.28	3.5c	14.3c
Kings Mountain	299.02	5 c	13.2c
Mecklenburg	1,080.16	5.9c	13.1c
Concord	535.10	4.3c	12.9c
Orange	270.76	2.1c	8.8c
Wilmington	301.28	3.9c	8.5c
Fayetteville	267.12	2 c	7.4c
Granville	109.21	1.7c	6.6c
SYNOD	$3,342.76	3.8c	11.2c

June's encouraging trend in receipts at Barium Springs was continued in July, for Synod showed an increase of $110.26 last month, as compared with the July income of 1938. Adding this fine increase to the first quarter advantage of $9.59 gives Synod a positive figure today of $119.85. 'Twould have been wonderful if the increase could have been ten times as great as in the first one-third of 1939-1940, but is very highly gratifying that this upsurge in giving could be observed during the past 31 days.

While this was happening there was a considerable shakeup in the standing of the Presbyteries, as against the rating of the nine Presbyteries a month ago. Kings Mountain, Mecklenburg and Wilmington Presbyteries held the spotlight in July. Kings Mountain and Mecklenburg Presbyteries advanced two places in the standing, both of these hurtling Concord Presbytery which dropped from third in June to fifth place in July. Wilmington emerged from the cellar position to go into seventh place. In so advancing, Fayetteville and Granville Presbyteries were shoved down to eighth and ninth, respectively. Unchanged in positions were Winston-Salem, Albemarle and Orange Presbyteries, who again rank in their respective positions of first, second and sixth - the same as in July.

Just a few extra dollars from any of several Presbyteries would have altered their standings in July, for only fractional cents separate some of them. For instance, the range between the third and fifth occupant in the standing is only three-tenths of a cent, and the same amount separates Orange and Wilmington Presbyteries in sixth and seventh places, respectively.

For the first time, the new 1938-1939 memberships of the Presbyteries were used in compiling the table of receipts for July. It is rather interesting that the membership of the North Carolina Synod is now 86,929 - virtually 87,000 - and during the church year of 1938-1939 every one of the nine Presbyteries showed some gain in membership. The largest gain numerically was made by Orange Presbytery, who has 581 more members, and the lowest gain was made by Wilmington Presbytery with a net advantage of 71 members over last year.

The following shows the gain in membership according to Presbyteries:

Presbytery	Gain
Orange	581
Mecklenburg	406
Concord	299
Fayetteville	277
Granville	272
Winston-Salem	157
Kings Mountain	147
Albemarle	137
Wilmington	71
Synod's Gain	2,347

In all future table of receipts, the new Synod membership of 86,929 will be used.

SECRETARY SAYS

were quilted out in the open under the trees. Near by was a deep spring bubbling up, surrounded by a high rock wall, furnishing refreshing water.

These quilts were quilted for Barium and have already been sent there. They were made of beautiful cloth and as we quilted we put many loving stitches in them for the boys and girls who will use them to keep warm when cold weather comes.

It was a very enjoyable day and a day that meant much to each of us as we became better acquainted with each other.

Picnic lunch was served at noon and we all ate so much of the good things, such as fried chicken, country ham, deviled eggs, sandwiches, cakes, pies, ice tea, etc., that quilting was a little slow in the afternoon. When the quilts were finished, the auxiliary meeting was held.

This was such a fine idea that I wanted to pass it on with the hope that some other auxiliary will try the plan. You know our Orphan's Home is just like our Homes and things like quilts will wear out.

Think what it would mean if every auxiliary would do some one thing for Barium.

Mrs. Raynal writes that she has visions of a new Alexander built in units to replace the old building.

the guard position being left wide open for newcomers. After Worth Bolton was injured, John Cole McCrimmon played tackle last year, giving him valuable experience. William Smith also obtained similar experience when Lee Spencer was hurt, for Smith took over the brunt of one flank for the remainder of the season. John Ellis, center, is the only lineman who played throughout the 1939 season and who is what might be termed a full-fledged line veteran.

That looks bad for Barium, so far as a forward wall is concerned but by the time the opening whistle sounds at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of September 22nd, the two coaches, Glenn Calhoun and Buck Jackins, will have whipped a line into shape and seven men chosen will do a jamb-up job of warding off the opposition and clearing the paths for the backs.

It is really surprising how these Barium youngsters develop overnight into material of varsity calibre.

Let us pray that this vision may be a reality in the near future.

Sincerely yours,
(Mrs. C. I.) Janie J. Loftin,
Kings Mtn. Presbyterial O. W. Secretary.
